

Three Under Arrest In Quick Murder Case

Coroner Humiston Secured Information Leading to Arrests
Within 12 Hours After Finding of Body of Uriah Quick in Home at Leibhardt—Kingston Woman, Kerhonkson
Restaurant Keeper and Stamford Man Under Arrest

Uriah Quick, 35 years old, was found murdered at his home in Leibhardt about 9 o'clock Thursday evening. Mr. Barley, a neighbor who had noticed the absence of the axed man about, went to investigate and made the discovery. Quick had apparently been dead several days.

This morning three persons are being held in the county jail in connection with the crime after an all night investigation by Troopers, District Attorney Cleve D. Murray and Sheriff Saxe and his assistants.

The three being held, and from whom statements have been secured are:

Mary A. Fish, 43, formerly of Accord, who was arrested by the local police early this morning at 15 East Strand.

Anton Baessler, 42, of Kerhonkson, a restaurant proprietor and friend of the Fish woman.

Marshall Conners, 66 years old of Stamford, a former employee of Baessler's in Kerhonkson.

The apprehension of the three persons by the authorities followed information secured by Coroner Howard B. Humiston of Kerhonkson who was summoned when the body of Quick was found in the outside cellar-way of his farm house. The clearing up of the matter within 12 hours after the finding of the body is considered most excellent work on the part of the authorities.

Baessler was taken this morning, after making a statement, back to the Quick farm and it is understood that he would give the authorities information as to where various articles could be found which had been used to clean up after the aged man was criminally assaulted and probably killed before his body was thrown down the cellarway head first, probably with the hope that the authorities would believe he had alienated the steps and fatally injured himself. The wounds were about the head.

It was about 9 o'clock that Coroner Humiston was notified by Mr. Barley that Quick was dead. Coroner Humiston notified District Attorney Murray and Sergeant Hopkins and also Sheriff Saxe. Mr. Humiston went to the Leibhardt home and after investigating removed the body to his undertaking parlors at Kerhonkson where it was viewed by the Troopers and Mr. Murray. It was determined at that time that death had not been caused by a fall and foul play was suspected.

Sheriff Saxe was notified and Deputy Sheriff Abram Molyneux immediately went to Leibhardt and took up the investigation. Quick's wife died some time ago and for a time he had resided alone on the farm. The farm is kept in most excellent state of cultivation and the house is exceptionally neat.

When the body was found it was in the outside cellarway lying head down as though Quick had fallen down the steps. His head was very severely cut and bruised and there were three lacerations on his face and head.

From the condition of the body it was apparent that the injuries could not have been occasioned by a fall. Suspicious of the case and with an idea that foul play had figured in the matter the authorities went to work on the theory that the man had been murdered.

At the Quick home a very complete investigation was made and blood stains were found in the kitchen and dining room of the house and a portion of Quick's glasses were found in the house. Although the glasses were found alongside the body in the cellarway.

It was apparent that Quick had been attacked in the house and beaten up and the body then thrown down the stairs so as to indicate that he had been killed by the fall. Whether he was dead at the time he was thrown down the steps is not known at this time.

The kitchen of the Quick house opens up on a porch and the cellar steps are to the left of the kitchen door.

Bloodstains were also found on Quick's shoe soles.

On information secured by Mr. Humiston the troopers started out to locate Baessler who was connected with a lunch room at Kerhonkson. It was learned that Baessler's car had been to Quick's place Tuesday evening. Last night he was in Kerhonkson and when he returned home about midnight he was placed under arrest.

It was learned that Mrs. Fish, who formerly resided in Connecticut, had been housekeeper for Mr. Quick and had recently left Kerhonkson to come to Kingston. The local police were asked to locate her and at 2:20 o'clock this morning she was located and arrested by the police at 15 East Strand on request of District Attorney Cleve D. Murray.

After the two had been arrested they were brought to the court house and questioned. It is reported that both have made statements as to their part in the matter. It was also

John Featherstone Drowned In Mohawk

Underwriter Frank McCordie of Rosendale and Arthur Mainer, a boatman, on Thursday identified as John Featherstone of Kingston, the body of the man found in the Mohawk river, near Ponda, wedged between stones three feet from shore.

Featherstone, employed as a cook on a Cornell tugboat, had been missing since November 15. Undertaker McCordie said today in reporting his death. He was 40 years of age, having been born January 9, 1892, at Waiden.

The dead man was well known in Kingston, having worked in several lunch rooms as a short order cook. He learned his business in the U. S. Navy during the World War, and was considered an expert at preparing meals for large bodies of men.

He was a member of the First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, New York National Guard, until two weeks ago when discharge papers were made out by his commanding officer, Captain Carlton S. Preston of Headquarters Battery, honorably dismissing him from service. "Featherstones" as he was known to his comrades in the Artillery was the battery cook and was considered one of the best in the regiment, as shown by newspaper reports of the field training period of the 156th at Pine Camp last summer.

Featherstone was quite an athlete in his younger days, specializing in boxing. He participated in the sport while in the navy and after being discharged engaged in a number of boxing contests. He also acted as a sparring partner for Vince Coffey, well known throughout the Hudson valley, when the Kingston boy was in his prime.

Funeral services will be held at St. Joseph's Church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock when a Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Chinese Launch Attack On Japs

By The Associated Press
A strong Chinese force failed in an attempt today to drive Japanese troops from Chintumenk in the Great Wall of China, dominating the coastal route from China proper into the Chinese province of Jehol.

Japanese planes made their sixth bombing raid in two weeks over northeast Jehol yesterday, breaking up a Chinese military concentration west of Kailu. More than 20,000 Chinese troops were preparing for a clash in that region.

Tokyo learned today that Japanese troops have occupied Meiho, last important town on the Siberian border to be brought under the Manchukuo government. The drive in Meiho, in the extreme north, followed recent offenses to the Soviet border on west and east extremities of Manchuria.

The common council recently authorized the sale of the bonds.

Warner Corry Exonerated
Chicago, Jan. 27 (AP).—Exonerated of murder charges, 37-year-old Warner Corry today was back in the home circle from which the law removed him almost two years ago, shortly after he shot and killed a policeman. A "singing" criminal court jury last night decided he was not guilty in connection with the slaying of Edward Smith, officer who was fatally wounded Memorial Day, 1931, when he interrupted Corry and two companions taking a clandestine swim in a public school natatorium.

Youth Arrested With Stolen Car

Richard Carney, 16, of Klingberg Avenue, Picked Up by Jersey City Police—Carney Driving Car of Mrs. George Piefer—To Be Brought Back.

Thursday Mrs. George Piefer of 36 O'Neil street drove her car down Broadway and parked it in front of the branch of the Kingston Trust Company in central Broadway while she went into the bank to transact some business. She left Richard Carney, 16, of Klingberg Avenue, in the car and told him she would be out within a few minutes.

When she had transacted her business and left the bank it was to find Carney and her car, a Chevrolet coupe, missing. She waited for some time, thinking the boy may have driven the car off and would return with it shortly. When he failed to make an appearance she notified the police department and a general alarm was sent out on the teletype.

The teletype alarm resulted in the youth and the car being picked up later in the day by the Jersey City police who notified the Kingston police.

This morning Sergeant Phinney left for Jersey City after Carney and Mrs. and Mrs. Piefer accompanied him.

Negro Confesses Murdering Child

New York, Jan. 27 (AP).—A gaudy pencil, whose red, blue and gold stripes coaxed six-year-old Helen Stier to horror and death in a Brooklyn cellar, forced a confession today from a young negro that he attacked and strangled her.

Lloyd Price, 22 years old, sat cringing and smoking cigarettes in a police station before dawn today. Detectives had been questioning him for seven hours.

"Now, Boss," he said for the hundredth time. "I wouldn't do a thing like that."

"But look at this pencil," a detective said softly. "It was found in the cellar. Your mother's outside and she says it belonged to your dead father. She says it disappeared from her bureau drawer two days ago."

"Is my mother out there?" the negro said, with a laugh. "Well, cap'n, I want to clear my conscience. Get some one in here who can write and I'll tell you about it."

The confession said that Wednesday afternoon Price left his home and went out on the streets looking "for a child." It told how he approached Helen as she played on a sidewalk, showed her 25 cents and the pencil and "made her eyes brighten."

"I took her by the hand," he was quoted as saying, "and led her into the hallway. As I was carrying her down the cellar stairs, she started to struggle and I struck her in the face."

He carried the little form to a dark end of the cellar, the confession said, and assaulted her. She cried out "Mamma, Mamma" and grew still. Price said he lit a match, found a piece of clothing, tied it about the girl's neck and crept away.

Future Fruit Growers Convict Killed Receive Awards at In Prison Outbreak Banquet Thursday

About 225 Future Fruit Growers of the New York State Horticultural Society—Senator Wicks and Philip Elting Speakers—Prizes Awarded.

"The end of a perfect day" was the comment of members of the New York State Horticultural Society at the conclusion of the banquet held by the Society at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday evening. Guests numbered about 225. It had been announced as a "banquet for future fruit growers" and a feature of the affair was the award of numerous cash prizes, medals, ribbons and plaques to boys and girls who had won first places in contests held in connection with the Society's exhibit at the old armory during their three-day meeting in Kingston.

Early in the proceedings, E. G. Cowper, president of the Society, introduced State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, who expressed the gratification felt by the people of Kingston and the County of Ulster at the decision of the Society to hold its eastern meeting in Kingston. He expressed that they would come again next year, when, if through misadventure any of their needs had been overlooked this year, the experience gained at this meeting would be a guide to more perfect arrangements next time.

President Cowper also introduced Philip Elting, Collector of the Port of New York, who as a native born farm boy found himself in sympathy with the aims and ambitions of the farm owners and horticulturists. He urged them to take an active interest in affairs of government with a special view towards protecting the landowner from the constantly increasing burden of taxation. Mr. Elting held that there were too many taxes, many of them overlapping and it was high time to call a halt.

Paul Zucca, song leader, called upon Mrs. Wicks for a solo, to which she graciously responded. Paul then insisted that Senator Wicks sing a duet with him and they gave "My Wild Irish Rose," which was greeted with tumultuous applause.

The real song hit of the evening, however, was the solo, "In the Good Old Summer Time," given by H. S. Duncan, the noted director of farm products inspection for the State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Mr. Duncan made his debut at the strenuous insistence of Assistant Director Perley Eastman of the State Bureau of Plant Industry, vociferously seconded by a group of scientists from the State College, who very unscientifically chanted, "We want Duncan."

The further program of the evening was in charge of Lawrence Howard of Kinderhook, second vice-president of the society, who acted as master of ceremonies, and who presented the three speakers representing the 4-H Clubs, the Young Farmers and the Junior Horticulturists. The speakers, who had been selected through elimination contests, were:

Arthur Burger of Athens, representing the 4-H Clubs; topic, "Supplying the Demand"; Elmer Smith of Catskill, representing the Young Farmers Clubs in the high schools of the Hudson Valley; topic, "Three Men in a Boat"; Arthur Williams of Highland, representing the Junior Horticulturists; topic, "Bud Mutations in the McIntosh Apple."

Medals were awarded to the speakers, the presentation being made by Prof. L. H. MacDaniels of the State College.

Awards to Juniors.
Silver plaques were then awarded to Junior Horticulturists for excellence in judging and identification of insects and disease injuries. Winners were:

For apple judging, awarded by Palmer Hart, manager of the Red Hook Cold Storage Company. Won by team from Dutchess county composed of Kenneth Sweet, Robert Rump and Peter Balrich.

For apple judging by Young Farmers, awarded by J. W. Clarke, president of the Hudson River Fruit Exchange, Milton. Won by team from Goshen, Orange county, composed of Clifford Taitell, H. Juckett and John Scanwick.

For 4-H Club team for identification of apple insect and disease injuries, awarded by E. Dexter, general manager of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company. Won by Dutchess county team composed of Raeder Finde of Red Hook, Clarence Fuller of Red Hook and Mary Redder of Tirol.

For Junior Horticulturist team in similar contest, plaque also awarded by Mr. Dexter. Won by Ulster county team composed of Clifford Slik-wick, Clintondale; Arthur Williams, Highland; Winifred Conklin, Clintondale.

For Young Farmers in similar contest, cup also awarded by Mr. Dexter. Won by Highland team composed of Neal Wilkoff, Douglas Freer, Leonard Gunch, Fred Woolsey and Joseph Greiner.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. Arthur R. Gorman, director of vocational work for the State Department of Education who laid out the need of proper training for life work, with particular reference to the value of agricultural training for boys. Speaking of the growth of the junior department work initiated by the society at Rochester five years ago he complimented the people of the Hudson valley upon the way in which they had taken up this work. Mr. Gorman said that the boys and girls of western New York would have to be played on their job if they expected to meet

Horticultural Society Concludes Its Convention

Attendance Good and Great Interest Displayed in Programs and Exhibits—Various Orchard Problems Discussed Helpfully by Able Speakers, Covering Production and Marketing Methods.

All Pleased With Horticultural Show

On all sides very favorable comments are being heard in regard to the success of the first eastern meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society to be held on the west side of the Hudson river. The meeting will close its sessions in the common council chamber and its extensive show in the old armory today. Those in charge of the commercial exhibits report a larger attendance and a greater interest than they experienced during the past few years. Many of the most prominent business men of Kingston who visited the show yesterday expressed their surprise at the magnitude of the exhibition and the interest it creates among the fruit growers of the Hudson valley.

The attendance at the meetings in the city hall was also better than usual. At every session except the first on Wednesday morning, the council chamber was filled to capacity with many standing in the rear of the room. E. G. Cowper, recently elected president of the society to succeed Walter Clarke, of Milton, expressed great pleasure at the excellent attendance and enthusiasm of all the sessions.

Those in direct charge of the show, including Roy McPherson of LeRoy, N. Y., the secretary, were free to express their appreciation of the excellent cooperation they received from the business men of the city, the city officials and the hotels. The exhibitors of machinery were particularly well pleased because it is the first time that the entire show was staged in the same room. The general opinion seemed to be that it concerned would like to see the 1934 meeting and show held in Kingston again. This invitation has already been extended by Mayor Carey and Senator Wicks, who has been very much interested in the show and helped make it a success.

The session this afternoon, at the request of Hudson Valley men, was given over to a discussion of small fruits, the speakers being experts in their line.

Richard Wellington of Geneva told about "New Varieties of Cherries, Peaches and Grapes."

George M. Barrow of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Washington, D. C., talked about "Growing Bush Fruits."

"Raspberry Varieties" were discussed by G. L. State of Geneva and Dr. W. H. Rankin of Geneva talked on "Disease Control in Raspberries."

A very interesting speaker Thursday was Professor George P. Potter, horticulturist at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Durham, N. H. Professor Potter talked on the very pertinent topic these days, "Adjusting Orchard Practices to Present Economic Conditions." He spoke from years of practical experience and gave numerous examples of what might be done to reduce orchard costs. One of them showed a reduction of from $10 to $2 in cost of working, by leaving the orchard in mud, using a heavy mulch of hay and taking proper precautions, which he described, to guard against mice and other pests which might be expected to be present under such conditions. Professor Potter's talk occupied the closing hour of the morning session Thursday.

The first speaker Thursday afternoon was Professor J. T. Bronger of the College of Agriculture, a former Washington State extension horticulturist and former secretary of the Washington State Horticultural Society. His subject was "The Latest Developments in Thinning Fruit." He showed the necessity of reducing, by thinning, the number of apples, especially in some varieties, in order to get the best results. Apples left to mature on the tree should be in the proportion of one apple to every 40 or 50 leaves on the tree.

He was followed by a New Jersey horticulturist, A. J. Farber, of the New Jersey Agricultural College at New Brunswick, N. J., who told of "Some Experiences with Spraying and Spraying Remedies in New Jersey." The spray problem in New Jersey, especially with regard to spraying on apples, is much more pressing than in the Hudson Valley. In New Jersey they find it necessary to use 10 to 15 sprays in order to keep the codling moth, under any sort of control, whereas in the Hudson Valley growers get along with one or two applications. The result is that there is a lot of heavy spray residue on apples when ready for market and the speaker said that at one time there were in the neighborhood of half a million bushels of apples held until they could be inspected for a determination of their condition. Because of this condition it has been found necessary to employ methods of washing apples, to quite a large extent.

Following the address of Jay Geider on Washable Marketable Apples, county agent of Hudson, N. Y., gave the last talk of the afternoon, discussing "Export Problems Confronting the Apple Grower." In introducing Mr. Buckholz President Cowper said that his talk was of importance, inasmuch as "it is necessary to export at least 25 per cent of the production of three trustees."

"Drunken House" Of Foggia Doomed By Plans For Beautifying Italian City

Foggia, Italy (AP). The "drunken to squander the money for the apte

strangest buildings, is to disappear

Eleven intoxicated youths erected

It was built in 1856 to spite the proud governor of the region, Don fond of gazing out over his extensive wheat fields from the windows of his mansion. One morning he rose to find the tilted, rose-tinted walls of the drunken house obstructing the

The story goes that Don Francesco of land between the mansion and the wheat-fields.

Buccì too was irked and since his cellars were filled with barrels of

YOUNG MARRIED WOMEN'S CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Young Married Women's Club of the Y. W. C. A. held its regular meeting on Thursday afternoon of this week with about 40 members present. Mrs. Lewis, the president, announced the coming annual meeting of the Y. W. C. A. to be held on Friday night of this week, with Dr. James T. Shotwell as speaker of the evening. The program for the next two club meetings was announced, on February 2, Professor A. W. Risley will deliver his second lecture; and on February 23, there will be play presented under the direction of Mrs. J. A. McNelis. The Valentine Dance of the club is being held on Friday, February 17, as announced at the last meeting.

Mrs. William M. Mills then took charge of the meeting and a delightful musical program was held, the subject being the opera "Il Trovatore." Mrs. Mills herself gave a synopsis of the opera, which was interspersed with solos, duets, and piano and violin solos. Undoubtedly the Hudson Valley furnished many of those early shipments to foreign ports. The export trade had steadily increased. In 1826 over 22,000 barrels were exported. By 1881 the number had grown to 1,159,280 barrels and in 1931 this country exported 2,629,576 barrels and 10,854,219 boxes of apples. During the past five years nearly 17 per cent of the commercial apple crop has been exported. The apple is king in the fresh fruit export trade. Of fresh fruits to the value of $56,250,000 exported in 1931, apples constituted 52 per cent of the total.

The leading export customer for boxed apples is the United Kingdom, with Germany second and the Netherlands third. In barreled apples the harder sorts could be shipped. France comes second and Germany third.

There are many necessary details to be observed in preparing apples properly for export and constant vigilance is necessary, starting at the orchard, while export methods are complicated.

The export trade has suffered of late and as an instance of how it has dropped off the speaker quoted Argentina, where the export demand has dropped from 200,000 barrels to 8,000. Condition of the times has something to do with the matter, but in addition there are many restrictions and requirements in addition to tariffs, import duties, money exchange complications and fruit quotas established by some countries. As an illustration, Great Britain last fall imposed an ad valorem duty of 10 per cent on imported apples.

These restrictions are serious, said Mr. Buchholz, who added, "Our apples are wanted abroad, in spite of high duties and strict regulations."

HURLEY.
Hurley, Jan. 27.—The Rev. Mr. Smith, former pastor of Hurley, called on friends here on Tuesday. On Monday evening a group of friends tendered Mrs. Alfred Myer a birthday surprise party at her home. Among those who attended were Charles Snyder, Miss Luella Snyder, Mrs. Scott Smith, Miss Agnes Smith, Miss Henrietta Myer, Mr. and Mrs. Minard Elmdorf, Miss Mabel Elmdorf, Ernest Myer and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Myer.

Miss Elizabeth DeWitt has taken up her residence in Kingston for the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Scott Smith, Miss Agnes Smith and Miss Henrietta Myer called on Mr. and Mrs. Minard Myer on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Watson Freer has returned home from the hospital. It is hoped that she will be able to be out soon.

The Rev. C. C. Gaulton attended the lecture on Holland given by Dr. Hoffman of Rutgers Theological Seminary in the First Reformed Chapel on Monday afternoon.

George Brown, who returned home from the hospital recently, has been spending a week with his mother, Mrs. George Brown.

our apples in this country and we are not doing that."

Mr. Buchholz's talk displayed the result of extensive investigation of the export situation, from its beginnings up to the present time. At the first he noted that apples were the first fresh fruits to be exported in any quantity from the United States. As early as before 1800 (thousands of barrels of apples were being exported, but as they then had to be shipped in sailing vessels only, the harder sorts could be shipped.

PERSONAL BROADCASTING

The microphone has been multiplying and evolving more rapidly than the motor car. It is immensely more effective than it was a few years ago. Also more varied and convenient. The large instruments standing around so conspicuously in public places are no longer essential. Small microphones may be placed almost anywhere, out of sight, to record speech, music or other sounds. One of the recent adaptations of this device was first made generally known at the Democratic national convention in Chicago, where ushers provided delegates with small microphones anywhere in the hall, so that they could address the chair and the audience from their seats.
There has been perfected recently a tiny microphone, less than an inch and a half in diameter and weighing only an ounce and a half, which can be mounted on the lapel of a public speaker's coat, like a boutonniere. It is attached to a long, thin cord, so that he can move about the stage or platform at will, without getting out of range of the "mike." It might easily be disguised as a flower, in which case an audience present would not be aware of the broadcasting.
It is probably only a question of time until we have tiny microphones, with their complement of battery, amplifier and loudspeaker, that we can carry in our pockets, and thus broadcast or telephone from wherever we are to almost anywhere else.

TIME FOR ECONOMIC PEACE.

The economists who prepared a program for the coming economic conference finished their two months of study the other day and published their report. The introduction to the published agenda ought to be read and meditated upon. It tells how the nations have got themselves into a state of economic warfare through "a network of restraints upon the normal conduct of business, and the throttling of business enterprise and individual initiative." This is not the result of any inevitable natural law, "but of the failure of human will and intelligence to devise the necessary guarantees to political and economic order." There is an ideal program to be followed if recovery is to be realized. The experts say:
In its essence the necessary program is one of economic disarmament. In the movement toward economic reconciliation an armistice was signed at Lausanne. The League of Nations must draft the treaty of peace.
Failure in this critical undertaking threatens the world-wide adoption of ideals of national self-sufficiency which cut unmistakably against the lines of economic development.
Such a choice would shake the whole system of international finance to its foundations; the standards of living would be lowered and the social system as we know it could hardly survive.
Even though that is a more severe statement than necessary, it contains much which thoughtful citizens have already figured out for themselves and which some leaders have long been trying to teach the public. Its general truth cannot be dodged. Fortunately, it is not necessary to make the wrong choice.

MEET THE MIDDLE WEST

Wickham Steed, British journalist, speaking at a gathering of Americans and English people in London, made a good suggestion to visitors coming here to get acquainted with the United States. He urged them not to enter through New York, as most of them do. By starting there, they get a false impression which might be corrected later if they traveled further. Too many of them, however, make the jump from New York to the Pacific Coast without ever becoming aware of the important interior.
Mr. Steed suggests therefore that they enter America by Canada, crossing into the United States at some point on the Great Lakes, getting acquainted with the people of the Middle West first. After that they go East or West or South as they choose. New York, of course, won't like this. That city should not worry. It is literally such a big attraction to travelers from all over the world that they are sure to visit it before they leave the country, and they may get a better understanding of it if they work up to it gradually.

When students of the University of Washington, at Seattle, were asked ten minutes to name the 48 states of the Union, more than three-fourths of them failed. Some left out a dozen or more states. The states most commonly mentioned were Arkansas, Nebraska, Mississippi, Iowa and Utah. The faculty, sad to relate, did little better than the students. Instead of the forgotten states, some of the students listed such imaginary commonwealths as Southern California, New Orleans and the District of Columbia. Before asking what the matter with Washingtonians, and whether they never read any history or politics, or look at any maps, or do any traveling, it might be well to spring the same test, without warning, on college students in other states. Unsuspected depths of geographical ignorance might be found.

ASTHMA CAUSES

One of the interesting duties of the physician of today is trying to locate the cause of asthma in each of his patients so afflicted.
With some ailments he knows the cause to be deficiency of the vitamins in the food; and in still others he knows that the ductless glands are doing too much or not enough work.

But with asthma the causes are so numerous, that it may take a great deal of time before the exact or true cause is located.

In Cecil's "Text Book of Medicine," the author groups the causes of asthma like the parts of a tree. The trunk represents an underlying state or condition which explains why some individuals have asthma and others do not. This trunk depends on several roots one of which is an inheritance for it is known that in nearly half the cases someone in the family has had asthma or one of the ailments of the same group—hives, eczema, hay fever, or a sensitivity to a food or odor. The other roots are not as yet known.

The tree trunk then divides into two main branches. The first includes those individuals whose asthma is due to some cause outside the body to which they are particularly sensitive, such as pollens of plants especially ragweed and timothy, dander from animals, vegetable dust and foods. Among foods the white of egg is the most frequent cause, then come cereals, and cows' milk.

The second branch includes cases of asthma due to organisms infecting the lining membrane of the nose, throat, and bronchial tubes. Whether the asthma is due to causes outside the body, or inside, the cause of the distressing symptoms—gasping for air—is due to the bronchial tubes becoming partly closed.

There is usually a cough which may bring up a little sticky sputum and the attack subsides. Anything that will open up the bronchial tubes will give relief. The usual remedy is adrenalin.
If, then, you have asthmatic attacks, keep the above causes in mind, and try to help your physician by remembering when and how the attack occurred.

Buying Barbara

Chapter 41
THE PACT RENEWED
"A three o'clock in the afternoon," Farrell told Barbara.
"The time matters to me," she said, her beautiful voice a little roughened. "Because when I met him at eleven that morning we talked about our different ideas of marriage and he was so angry with me and my idea that he punished me by not telling me that he had a chance of—of a miracle!"
And, as he made no comment: "That doesn't surprise you? You would have expected him to be as indifferent as that?"
He answered her conscientiously: "You know what my theory was that he was not worthy of you and that a radical change in his circumstances would make you admit it. Well, I don't ask you to admit it yet. I asked you for a year. I'll stick to that. All I want is to report to you."

"I have launched his book. I've made it easy for him to buy popularity with a certain section of what's called society. The section was his choice, not mine. I've given him the hope—the strong certainty of restored health."
"If ever again it seems to you that I am cheating or side-stepping, give me an opportunity to defend myself before you decide not to let me have my year!"
She moved, and he caught the faint gleam of silver from her hair. He put out a hand and drew the falter scarf up and over her small, silky head.
"Come along now," he said quietly. "I can't let you catch cold."
"She was standing very still, her face upturned to his. His hands were clumsy at their task.
"I mean it when I say that Mark and I quarrelled. We really quarrelled. We differed absolutely and fundamentally about a thing that matters. Marriage. And so I am not going to marry him, ever, whatever he grows to be."
The clumsiness dropped from his hands. As he gripped her she winced, and he loosened his hold a little. He felt her shake her head.
"There's still something I want to tell you. It's strange you should have found me here just now, because I've been thinking all day that I could say it here by the sea. In this mood, and perhaps nowhere else."
"What is it, Barbara? What have you to say?"
"That there is no need to wait a year for me if you still want me. I will marry you, if you like."
He stared down at her, stupefied. The moonlight was strengthening

He carried her toward a bobbing lantern.

round my neck, will you? You'll feel safer."
"He stopped at last and let her slip to the ground. The lantern was bobbing towards them."
"Is the lady there, sir? Tide's coming in fast."
"Yes, the lady is here. She is all right."
The lantern preceded them to the Devels, hesitated, bobbed and finally retreated. Armitage switched on the light in the roof of the car and turned, holding out a hand. She took it like a docile child.
"Farrell!"
He stopped and looked up at her. "You haven't answered me. You haven't said whether you—" Her voice failed.
"What are you offering me?" he asked her.
She colored deeply.
"Not what I was stupid enough to offer you before," she murmured. "I didn't mean to offer you a bribe."
"What then?" And as she was silent, "A consolation prize?"
"I suppose—yes, it would be that."
"But I don't need consolation, yet. My year isn't up. At the end of my year I shall claim your love. Why should I be impatient now and take your pity?"
She closed her eyes and he saw the tears slip out from under the lids and he upon her face.
"I'm not deluding myself," Armitage went on. "As long as Mark doesn't want you, you'll think you love him. Very well; he shall be made to love you."
Before she could speak, he continued. "By the way, I've an emerald of yours. Shall I give it to Mark?" Barbara nodded "yes."

3 PEOPLE IT HADN'T SEEN
FOR 6 YEARS... Monroe, Mich.

Star witness in a case that involved his own ownership, a parrot belonging to Vincent Swiderski took the stand in a Monroe, Mich., court and gave testimony that many humans would have trouble with. He identified three children that he had not seen for six years.
The case came to court after Mr. Swiderski saw a parrot which he thought was his, lost six years before. The new possessors disputed the claim, but the parrot settled it to the satisfaction of the court when he called out "Gladys, Leo, Joe," to the Swiderski children.
Concerned with such things in his official duties at Washington, D. C., it was only natural that Santiago Iglesias, Puerto Rico's resident commissioner in the U. S. Congress, should have the subjects of liberty, justice and equality uppermost in his mind. He went a bit farther, however, and named his daughters each after an important attribute to modern civilization. The daughters are named: Liberty, America, Justice, Fraternity, Equality, Peace.

Half a century ago the old high-wheeled bicycle was the last word in economical transportation. M. H. Hill, then a young man of 23, rode one of them. Today he still is a cycling enthusiast, and still rides his old high-wheeler.

A SEAT in the CABINET

HENRY A. WALLACE

Editor's Note: This is the eighth of a series of articles picturing briefly possible members of the Roosevelt cabinet.

Henry A. Wallace, following in the footsteps of his father and grandfather as editor of a farm magazine, is rated in the front rank of those suggested as President-elect Roosevelt's possible choice for secretary of agriculture.

If selected for the secretaryship, the department would see the history of 12 years ago repeated—a Wallace called to the helm when the farmer voted for a "chance." It was his father, Henry C. Wallace, to whom President Harding entrusted the post at the end of previous Democratic rule.

Wallace has taken the position of an independent in politics—professing allegiance to the man whose policies he believed best for agriculture. Through his magazine he urged the election of Mr. Roosevelt throughout the middle west from the date of his pre-campaign conference with the Democratic candidate.

Wallace since has been an adviser to the President-elect. He is an advocate of the voluntary domestic allotment plan, remonetization of silver, readjustment of war debts, currency inflation, tariff revision and trade reciprocity, and with certain qualifications, and recognition of Soviet Russia.

TURKEY DINNER AT Y. M. C. A. NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

Tuesday evening, January 31, the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will serve a turkey dinner commencing at 5, and continuing until all are served at about 8 p. m. While the menu has not yet been given out, excellent helpings of turkey with all the fixings are assured all who attend. Mrs. George H. DuBois is general chairman of the committee in charge, and is president of the Auxiliary; she will be assisted in the kitchen by Mrs. William Longyear and Mrs. Byron Van Ethen. The dining room will be in charge of Mrs. J. N. Secora. Mrs. Neland H. Fuller is in charge of tickets and Mrs. C. J. Schoonmaker of publicity. Many times during the year they are called upon to aid in the promoting of various work among the boys in the boys' division, and always respond heartily. Their funds for these purposes come from dinners such as the one they are serving on Tuesday evening. Tickets may be secured from any member of the Women's Auxiliary, the Triangles Club, the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A., from the staff, or by calling the Y. M. C. A. at 1140, and leaving your order.

Her 80th Birthday. Shokan, Jan. 26.—Friday is the 80th birthday of Mrs. Sarah Barringer, next to the oldest citizen of Shokan and one of the few remaining real daughters of the American Revolution. When it is considered that descendants of war comrades of Mrs. Barringer's father, Benjamin Bailey, are now represented here in part by great grandchildren 70 years of age, the distinction that this remarkable lady enjoys is truly a remarkable one. Mrs. Barringer makes her home with her son, Frank Barringer, at Ashokan, watershed inspector, residing on the old Greenway place, near Sand Hill.

Land-Clearing. Washington, D. C., was created from a swamp when a group of men which included Jefferson and Washington sold off the land covered with woods and corn fields. Patrick Henry and a band in the Georgia land frauds; Benjamin Franklin took a tier in real estate and lost; Robert Morris made paper profits by the millions and ended in a debtors' prison—all this in the history of land clearing.

Continuing Fight On Old Demon Rum

Local Branch of Women's Christian Temperance Union Given Cheers and Encouragement in the Work by Mr. Adams and the Rev. Dr. Deming.

(Official Report)

At the meeting held on Tuesday evening in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, sponsored by the local Women's Christian Temperance Union, the principal participants were the Hon. H. Westlake Coats of Ellenville, and the Rev. Dr. Fred H. Deming, pastor of the Wurts Street Methodist Episcopal Church of this city.

In speaking on the subject of "Pending Legislation," Mr. Coats spoke especially of the proposal to repeal the 18th Amendment.

Since this proposal is to return to the several states for the solution of this great question, the subject of states rights comes immediately before the public. This doctrine came up in the very beginnings of our government, in the Constitutional Convention of 1787.

All along through the years it has re-appeared. Opposed to it was the principle of making the central government strong. And through the years there have been many powers voted to the Federal government, through the ratification of amendments. Witness the amendments that have been incorporated into the Constitution, now twenty in all.

These were all ratified through legislatures, representing the people. Wartime prohibition prepared the country for the Eighteenth amendment, and this amendment was ratified by more states than was any other. Even New York and New Jersey ratified it.

Seventy-five per cent, nearly, of all of our people were under either local or state prohibition at the time. The proposal that state conventions be held to settle this matter is an unusual one, for every amendment was ratified by legislatures, and these legislatures were chosen by the people. State conventions could not be more representative than these.

It should not be forgotten that the purpose in making amendments to the fundamental law of the land is to make secure and permanent the benefits that have been discovered. This was so in regard to slavery, income tax, woman's suffrage, as well as the prohibition of the manufacture, sale and distribution of intoxicating liquors.

Dr. Deming spoke of "Advance, not Retreat," in this crusade. "While anxious and almost dazed by what seems to be a change of sentiment and attitude among our people, one thing, at least, remains unchanged, and that is, the nature and character of beverage alcohol. The greatest experts testify and insist that it is a poison, a narcotic, and a habit-forming drug. This being so, the responsibility of Christian people is two-fold: First, to see that we reduce the manufacture, sale and distribution of beverage alcohol; second, that we do all we can to keep the 18th Amendment and the enforcement act. Our most important step is to be educational. Facts must be gathered and used to overcome subtle propaganda. In such a time as this, with unparalleled economic distress, in a machine age, and an age of speed, there is a call for clearest thinking, strongest hearts and bodies, as wise persons, we cannot think of adopting beverages that are poisonous, habit-forming. With thousands now needing bread, beer could be gotten only at the expense of going without bread. Finally, the finest inspiration for right action must come through religion. The present situation is God's challenge to us to 'advance, not to retreat.'"

The program, as given in The Freeman last Friday, was carried out, with Mrs. George W. Shultis presiding. The Boy Scouts of the church were in attendance with their scout leader, and gave fine attention to the program. One of their number, Gilbert Barnhart, gave a reading.

The battle above the clouds was a part of the battle of Chattanooga, which lasted from November 23 to 25, 1862. On the 24th General Hooker carried Lookout mountain. This is known as the "Battle Above the Clouds."

five than these. It should not be forgotten that the purpose in making amendments to the fundamental law of the land is to make secure and permanent the benefits that have been discovered. This was so in regard to slavery, income tax, woman's suffrage, as well as the prohibition of the manufacture, sale and distribution of intoxicating liquors.

Dr. Deming spoke of "Advance, not Retreat," in this crusade. "While anxious and almost dazed by what seems to be a change of sentiment and attitude among our people, one thing, at least, remains unchanged, and that is, the nature and character of beverage alcohol. The greatest experts testify and insist that it is a poison, a narcotic, and a habit-forming drug. This being so, the responsibility of Christian people is two-fold: First, to see that we reduce the manufacture, sale and distribution of beverage alcohol; second, that we do all we can to keep the 18th Amendment and the enforcement act. Our most important step is to be educational. Facts must be gathered and used to overcome subtle propaganda. In such a time as this, with unparalleled economic distress, in a machine age, and an age of speed, there is a call for clearest thinking, strongest hearts and bodies, as wise persons, we cannot think of adopting beverages that are poisonous, habit-forming. With thousands now needing bread, beer could be gotten only at the expense of going without bread. Finally, the finest inspiration for right action must come through religion. FOUND A QUICK, SURE WAY TO RELIEVE COUGHS AND HOARSENESS

No matter whether your cough is just an irritating tickle, or a hard stubborn nerve-racking bark you can relieve it instantly with this new quick-acting preparation—STOP KOF.

The formula of this astonishingly effective remedy represents the active constituents of white pine, wild cherry, calamus, yerba santa and eucalyptus compounded into a syrup with sugar and honey.

STOP KOF acts instantly to loosen the germ-laden phlegm and clear the congested air passages, at the same time soothing the inflamed membranes in the throat. It is pleasant-tasting—children like it—and it is entirely harmless and free from narcotics. It won't upset the stomach or nauseate.

You have no idea how quickly and surely coughs due to colds and hoarseness are relieved after taking a spoonful or two of STOP KOF. Get a bottle today at your druggist and see for yourself how effective it is.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief
By The Associated Press

What's Your Coming To?
London.—A ban on the historic game of marbles is the demand made by a deputation of parents to the education authorities of North London.

Marbles, say the parents, are now an instrument of gambling. Youngsters rife in marble wealth act the part of bookmakers for their classmates. The new game is to hold out one marble as a target, and the "bookmakers" shout the odds.

Only Fooling
Erie, Pa.—Constable Tom Furham, trying to serve a household tax levy on an Erie family, retreated when he saw a quarantine sign—"measles"—on the door.

Then, growing suspicious, he checked with the health department. The physicians said the quarantine was "just a fooler."

Kisses and Cash
Indianapolis.—A jury decided Mrs. Marie Winger is entitled to collect $100 from a detective agency because her husband kissed her as they stood in the doorway of a downtown building. The agency employed to shadow Karl Hamilton made a mistake in identity and trailed Lawrence Winger instead. They reported the Wingers' kiss to Mrs. Hamilton.

Choose Your Weapons
Oklahoma City.—An Oklahoma statute against duelling will be repealed if State Representative E. Landingham of Oilton has his way. He's introduced a bill to kill it.

Tender Knees
Chicago.—Only the sturdiest of Chicago golfers are expected to appear on the links this spring and summer in shorts and bare knees, instead of slacks and knickerbockers.

It's because of the mosquitoes and weather. "Chicago golfers," said one commentator, "are too conservative, the weather is too cool, and the mosquitoes too numerous."

Judge Fortifies Himself
Hammond, Ind.—Judge William J. Murray of the criminal court believes in taking no unnecessary chances.

After he felt he had been endangered by the gestures of attorneys coming too close to his bench he erected a sign telling them what to do in the future.

The sign instructs them to come no closer than three feet.

Security That Goes "Wo"
Canton, Wis.—Farmers' State Bank officials thought a rodeo had come to town.

The farmer who had all the livestock out in front of the bank explained that he couldn't pay a chattel mortgage and had decided to turn the animals over to the bank.

The bankers offered to renew the mortgage, but the farmers wanted to erase the debt, so the bank officials were obliged to find a place to feed and house the stock.

His Bones Know
Council Bluffs, Ia.—Theodore Bachelor, 80, is confident that spring is just two weeks away. If he's correct, Bachelor says, he'll shave off the whiskers he's worn since he missed a weather prediction 11 years ago.

Bachelor, graduate of the first class at the University of Nebraska, who lives a hermit's life in the river lowlands says the signs of spring are these: Budding trees, geese flying north and "the spring feel in my bones."

Firmer Control Of Church Sought In Bill Proposed By Spain's Minister Of Justice

By A. EDWIN STUNTZ

Madrid, (P).—Catholicism has demonstrated how deeply it is embedded in Spain, said Alvarez de Albornoz, minister of justice in a recent address at Talavera de la Reina.

He included the remark in a political argument in which he pressed more stringent regulation of the church.

Would Confiscate Property

Author of a bill for control of religious orders which is awaiting parliamentary action, he insisted that the constitutional separation of church and state, although coupled with subsequent expansion of the Jesuits, had not been strong enough to uproot what he termed "the power and abuses of the church."

The proper, which is due for hearing after parliament reassembles early in February, proposes the confiscation of the property of all the religious orders. The property, it would be inventoried and turned back to the organizations for "controlled" exploitation.

The measure further stipulates that there shall be no educational efforts by the orders, other than theological. Also they would be required to pay taxes to which they hitherto have been immune.

Spiritual Power Unshaken

Church authorities have replied to the Albornoz proposals in the same vein as to previous anti-church measures enacted under the republic. Their reiterated reaction has been:

"The financial power of the church may be destroyed in Spain; its spiritual power never."

The 1922 national budget was conspicuously lacking in the 67,000,000 pesetas which formerly were appropriated annually for church aid. Church authorities answered this by organizing Spain's first collection drive.

Bishops of the various dioceses said the collections had not made up for the loss of state subvention. They admitted the church was not as rich as it used to be, but they said that attendance had increased.

They have pointed also to the results of a law passed several months ago making civil marriage necessary and abolishing the necessity of church marriage. But scarcely a dozen couples have refrained from the church rites and each case of solely civil marriage has found its way into the press as news.

Among those who relied upon the civil marriage form was Marcelino Domingo, minister of commerce and agriculture. He married a divorcee.

Begin This Year to Enjoy Cooking

Cooking the meals is always one of the big jobs in the home, but it can be made an interesting one, if the monotony and uncertainty are removed. Modern, automatic ranges do just that.

Cooking skill is more easily developed with modern, controlled-temperature ranges because the same oven setting always brings the same result. Then, too, you are free at once from that stove-watching which makes cooking so often a time-consuming bore.

Automatic ranges are inexpensive right now, and you may have one installed at once with only a $10.00 down payment and no further payments due until you receive your April electric bill. See your home appliance merchant at once to learn what he can do to make cooking an easier job for you this year and in the years to come.

Women Salute Military Braid

MILITARY BRAID ON SLEEVES

The Kingston Youth Association will hold its first annual meeting at the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue, Kingston, on Friday, Jan. 27, at 8:30 p. m. The program will include a general session, a business session, and a social hour. The speaker for the evening will be Mr. E. B. Rice, state general secretary of the Christian Endeavor Society of New York State, who will deliver a message on the subject of "The Christian's Message to the Youth of Today."

There is an extremely formal and dignified atmosphere about the meeting, and it has attracted a large number of young people from the surrounding communities. The program is well worth while, and it is hoped that many more young people will attend the next meeting.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexion, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appealing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

New York—Military braid is an ancient and honorable institution, by no means restricted to the army or the navy. Women have gone to heavily for braiding in the past and threaten to do so again.

When George's Ladies' Book was being published, there were endless illustrations of handsome braided costumes. Military braid has always been respectfully treated. It has never been taken lightly. This generation seems to have retained some of the old-time reverence for it. It may be a slightly different braid, but it is severely applied.

Brains have come back with buttons and heavier save the mark, with the placket. Just why we have resurrected the placket is something that is not very clear in my mind, unless it is to give an excuse for the introduction of buttons, and it hardly seems that one needs an excuse for that. Yet plackets are worn, and buttons are strung along them, whether the placket be torn or not.

The tendency to trim the sleeve from the neckline over the shoulder and to the wrist, in a more or less uninterrupted line, is being constantly noted. The illustration shows how braid may be utilized for this purpose.

They do say that other kinds of braid are coming back—soutache, among others—and it certainly seems likely. We have already learned how quaintly and charmingly rich-rack can be used and even how decorative narrow or wide metal braid is on velvet or anything else for that matter.

Braid and buttons both belong among the revived trimmings, among which may also be listed ribbons, flowers and even feathers. Feathers, rather the Empress Eugenie flurry, subsided. When they again intruded into the picture, it was by means of a sharply pointed quill poised at a dangerous angle on the hat. Now one sees not only quills but the feather novelties described as "pasties."

We have learned that they refuse to stay on the hats and are used as an alternative to flowers for the evening dress.

(Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild)

Military braid is a feature of this dress, developed in crepe. The neckline is draped to a high line, and the bodice and waistline are molded.

Coral and Shrimp Shades For Immediate Wear

Coral and shrimp colors are especially cited among the shades that are wanted for both mid-winter and resort wear. Blues and gray are also designated important. Wool chenille is much worn. Another preference is for rabbit's hair dresses. Two-piece models with-trimmed belted, over-blouses, featuring puff sleeves, high necklines and two color combinations that are lively, have a particularly youthful touch that accounts for much of their popularity.

RANCHERS ADOPT DUCKS TO FIGHT TICK PEST

Sydney, Australia (AP)—In Queensland and in the north of New South Wales ducks have assumed a new importance and are being bred in thousands.

It has been discovered they have a keen appetite for cattle ticks, vermin which cost ranchers millions of dollars annually.

Flocks of trained ducks now mingle with the cattle. Every time a beast lies down the ducks swarm over it and make short work of the ticks.

AUSTRALIA SUES CHILDREN FOR DOLES GIVEN PARENTS

Canberra (AP)—Sons and daughters who have sufficient means are compelled to contribute to the support of needy parents by a new federal Australian law.

Old-age and invalid pensions of $4.50 a week cost the commonwealth $58,500,000 annually. But many who receive this federal aid have adult well-to-do children. In future the government will sue these children for reimbursement.

Similar action has been planned in the state of New South Wales in respect to "widows' pensions, which cost $2,000,000 annually.

Registration at Kingston High School

Principal Clarence Dumm of Kingston High School announced the dates of registration for the new term as follows:

Monday, January 20, students who have previously attended high school will register at 8:30.

Tuesday, January 31, students who are attending high school for the first time will register at 8:30.

Students are asked to note the change in dates. In previous years the new students registered the first day and old students the second, but the upper classes are reporting first so that they might be taken care of before the new entries complicate the problem of space. Tuesday both the resident and non-resident entries will register with the local grammar school graduates before the school takes care of the non-resident last. If there is any room.

Art and Social Club Party

The Art and Social Club will give an apron and the party Monday night, January 30, at the home of Mrs. Virginia Mitchell, 124 North Front street. Proceeds to be donated to needy families. Refreshments will be sold. Mrs. Martha Saunders is president of the club and Mrs. Condie Lockhart is secretary.

Negligence Case Settled.

Thursday afternoon after a jury had been taken in a negligence action brought by Dr. B. W. Gifford of Saugerties against Leon Smith of the town of Saugerties an agreement was reached between parties and the case was announced settled. Court recessed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

He's still as round-faced as when he was the "boy wonder" of tennis, still a month or two short of his 30th birthday, yet a veteran in every sense of the word, one who reaped national championship laurels 10 years ago and now is endeavoring a period of self-reliance to get back into competitive competition after a layoff.

We are talking about Vincent Richards, as you may have guessed, but the interesting thing is what he likes to talk about. He tells you and me, for instance, that he is training for a professional tour of Europe this summer with Bill Tilden—Big Bill's first annual "farewell"—that he still thinks his legs can cover a lot of court, that had management cost the U. S. A. a glorious chance to regain the Davis Cup last year and probably will be responsible for the failure of the 1932 campaign of our globe-circling amateurs.

Davis Cup Follies

"I think our confidence cost us the Davis Cup last summer," says Richards. "Vines looked to be going great guns. So was Allison. Our doubles team, any way the combination looked up, looked fine. And so what?"

"Our boys took nice long walks around Paris to get their legs in condition after working out on the courts. They didn't have the stuff when they needed it and an amazing come-back by that grand, guy, Jean Borotra, beat off our lads. "Now what's happening?" Vines, Allison, Van Ryn and the rest of our Davis Cup hopefuls finished campaigning in Europe, came back for all the Eastern tournaments and championships, played on the west coast, then hopped off for a honeymoon tour of the Far East.

By way of Australia, where they are playing continuously, they will work their way to Europe just in time for the spring tournaments and a trip home. You can figure for yourself how keen and ready they are going to be next summer for the one big objective—the Davis Cup inter-zone and challenge rounds."

"Big Bill" The Best

"Maybe Vines can stand it. He's a great player, but he has yet to see the day when he can be compared with Tilden at Big Bill's peak. I have no hesitation personally in paying this tribute to Tilden. I never expect to see the day when he will be up against or witness such tennis as he could produce when he was at his very best.

"The reason, little Bill Johnston was tougher for me personally than Tilden was because the Californian was a volleyer like myself. He considered me a soft touch until I caught him off balance one day out at Forest Hills and I don't think he ever forgot the licking I gave him then."

"I had a visit with Johnston on the coast recently and he's back in good health again."

Bruck All Stars Bow to Roscoe

Pete Bruck's All Stars suffered their second defeat in 15 games at Roscoe, Thursday night, losing to the quintet of that village by the score of 25-34. The only other team that defeated the Stone Riders this season was the Detroit Clowns.

Leading the scoring attack of the Brucks last night was Norm Niles with eight points, while Albee chalked up 13 for Roscoe. Rough playing marked the contest.

Wednesday night at B. W. S. Hall, their home court, the Bruckmen will endeavor to get back on the winning road against Fleischmanns. This quintet has defeated some strong teams, including the House of David. The game will start at 8:45 o'clock.

Opposing lineups: Fleischmanns—Crook and Pultz, forwards; Kirk, center; Elliott and Kittle, guards; Stone Ridge—Van Deusen and Niles, forwards; Knoll, center; Wood, Merrill and Bruck, guards.

Following the games there will be a dance, lasting until 1 o'clock.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of eight articles on basketball by FOREST C. (FING) ALLEN, director of athletics at the University of Kansas and noted authority on the game.

By FOREST C. (FING) ALLEN
(Written for The Associated Press)

Lawrence, Kas., (AP)—Figures show there are twenty million boys and girls in the world playing basketball today. There's hardly a country in the world that doesn't go in for the game in a big way.

France, Italy, Japan, China, Persia, India, Sweden, the Philippine Islands, Portugal, Czechoslovakia, Turkey, Greece, Mexico, Canada, Poland, Russia, Germany, England and practically all of the South American countries encourage national championship play.

The international Y. M. C. A. secretaries planted the game early in many of the foreign countries, while our U. S. soldiers gave the game to the Philippine Islands in 1909. The American Army of Occupation taught the German populace basketball in 1918.

During the inter-Allied games at Paris in 1919, the United States, France and Italy played for the championship, the United States winning rather handily.

After the Armistice, was signed, two American teams, by invitation from the British Government, demonstrated basketball in the British zone of the war zone. The British took to it readily.

Rejected For Olympics.

Practically every foreign country has fashioned its basketball rules after our American game. The reason for this is evident. They look to us as the mother country in this sport and have a right to expect guidance in formulating rules and in showing their ideals of sportsmanship.

The writer, as Chairman of the Olympic Committee of the National Basketball Coaches' Association, negotiated with international athletic leaders toward the project of including basketball as a demonstration game in the Olympics at Los Angeles last August. Much enthusiasm and

Baseball Needs College Athletes

Columbus, O., Jan. 27 (AP)—Basketball, says Joe Carr, newly appointed promotional director for the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, needs the college athletes.

"Get the stars and the crowds will follow," says the man who is trying to find a tonic for the national game. The prime need just now, he explained, is to stop curtailment of baseball in high schools and colleges. This, more than anything else, is jeopardizing the game, he added.

"Far too many athletes are being graduated from colleges and entering the coaching game who know nothing at all about baseball," Carr said.

"I know that several high schools have abandoned the sport because newly-appointed coaches were former football, track or basketball stars and knew nothing and cared less about baseball. This alone will put off the day when baseball will make a scholastic comeback."

"Without a team to follow, where are the youngsters going to learn baseball?" Carr asked, adding that rabid fans don't get that way after they grow up.

The game, he said, is almost entirely dependent on high school and college boys, not to mention the sand-lotters from which the Babe Ruths and Lefty Groves often emerge.

Morgans Again Meet Bigelows

Basketball fans who visit White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, Fridays to see the Morgan Repealers in action expect to see a real gingery battle tonight when the disbelievers in the 18th Amendment stack up against the Saugerties Bigelows who are out to chalk up their 21st victory, and their second over the Morgans, whom they outscored by the narrow margin of two points several weeks ago.

The Repealers will take the court with their regular lineup of "Chick" Smith and Norm Niles, forwards; Wes Hyatt, center; Jimmy Merritt and Joe Hoffman or Joe Dulin, guards. Battling for the Bigelows cause will be Schackett and Ribenbergh, forwards; Vic Till, center; Brice and Benjamin, guards.

Preliminary to the feature the Knights of Columbus will meet the Rexall Aces of Rosendale.

There will be entertainment and dancing.

The Saugertiesians made eight apiece, while Schline collected seven. The victory was the 20th out of 22 games for the Bigelows.

BILLIARDS

Stan Wojcik Victor

In 29 innings of sensational billiards at the Nick Kaslich parlor, Wall street, Thursday night, Stan Wojcik defeated Clifton Quick 169 to 59 in the third match of the tournament for the championship of the city.

A run of 21, highest of the contest, put Quick in the van by the tally of 31-5 in the sixth inning, but he was unable to hold the advantage when in the next four stanzas Wojcik hit his stride, running off combinations of 6, 12 and 13. However, he did not turn in his biggest score until the 13th inning when he pocketed 15. This run gave him the lead 55-17 and he stayed in front for the remainder of the match.

Wojcik made several difficult shots that brought applause from the gallery of onlookers, who clasped his performance with that of Charlie Boyle, the veteran billiardist, who defeated Julius Teller, 1922 champion, by the score of 100 to 44, in the tourney starter.

The second match of the tournament was won by "Pie" Murphy from Steve Kaslich, 160-55.

Tonight at the Koenig A. C. Hasbrouck avenue, Andy Krom meets Bob East at 8 o'clock.

North Roadsters Champs

Thursday night at the North Road Social Club, Bobby Hart ended the tournament between that club and the Raskoski billiard parlor by defeating Harry Ertel, 100 to 100 to 53. A large turnout of billiard enthusiasts saw the match which ended the tourney, N. R. S. C., 13; Raskoski, 8.

Two prizes were given for high runs. Jimmy DeCicco won first with a run of 21. Joe Zeeh and Pete Scyca with 15 are tied for second and will meet in a playoff.

Tannersville 5 Edges Out Locals

Playing the Tannersville Big Five on the villagers' court Thursday, Phil Kelly's Chocolaters, substituting for St. Mary's Counselors, lost to the mountaineers in a close and exciting game that ended 30-28. The last minute of play decided the battle in favor of the Tannersville quintet which holds victories over the celebrated Bigelows and Spinnys of Port Ewen.

Absent from the Chocolaters' lineup were Herb Van Deusen and Eddie Noonan, two scoring mainstays. Bill Kennoch and Phil Kelly did the bulk of the point collecting for the Kingstonians, Dougherty for Tannersville.

Booking Manager Bill Jordan of the Chocolaters challenges the Morgan Repealers and Rosendale Firemen.

Latest News from The Baseball Front

New York, Jan. 27 (AP)—The New York Giants already have 12 players signed for the 1933 season, but they lack a catcher to round out a complete nine.

Contracts, signed, so far have been returned by Outfielders Out, George Davis and Joe Moore; Pitchers Luque, Hubbell, Glenn Spencer and Kezlie Mapp; First Basemen Terry and Joe Maly; Second Basemen Critz; third Basemen Vergez; and Shortstop John Ryan.

The veteran Luque and the rookies Mapp and Maly came to terms yesterday.

Del Bissonette, one of the unluckiest men in major league baseball, will have to demonstrate in training camp that he is recovered from his various ailments before the Brooklyn Dodgers offer him a contract. Bissonette was on the shelf because of illness all through last season and now is on the voluntary retired list. He said a few days ago that he was feeling fine and ready to resume his place at first base. That would solve one of Manager Max Carey's principal worries.

St. Louis, Jan. 27 (AP)—Branch Rickey, vice-president of the St. Louis Cardinals, says that while Mike Gonzales, veteran catcher, had been released and is a free agent "he can command a place in our organization if he wants it, but hardly with the Cardinals."

Rickey said that before Gonzales left St. Louis he had discussed with the Cardinal management the possibility of his accepting a job with the baseball organization, but no definite agreement was reached. Rickey would not say whether a position with any particular one of the Cardinal "farms" had been discussed with Gonzales.

Nick Zinna Fights Saturday Night

Nick Zinna, former Kingston lightweight, who successfully resumed his ring career in the National Guard as a welterweight about six weeks ago, is matched with a prominent New Yorker, Ray Napolitano, for a bout at the 21st Anti-Aircraft Armory, New York, Saturday night. In Napolitano, Zinna has a real problem. He was 36 out of 37 ring battles and is considered one of the outstanding welters of the metropolis. His followers are said to be wagering 2-1 that Nick will not last three rounds. The old Kingston favorite likely will rely on his boxing skill, and may surprise his opponent's admirers, his manager believes. If he beats Napolitano, Zinna probably will get plenty of bouts in the future.

LaBarba Picked To Defeat Watson

New York, Jan. 27 (AP)—They're launching Seaman Watson on an unfamiliar ocean tonight and with no charts to guide him.

Britain's nautical fisticuff, champion of the tight little isle's featherweights, faces Fidel LaBarba, staunch Los Angeles battler, in a 12-round match in Madison Square Garden.

The odds were as high as 2 to 1 that LaBarba would win and gain the right to meet Kid Chocolate, recognized in this state as featherweight champion of the world, in a title bout here in February.

Professor Williamson Presents Results of Survey of Hudson Valley Farms and Advises Care and Economy

Just how much, or rather how little, the average farm farmer of the Hudson Valley region is receiving in return for his investment and labor was demonstrated in an exhibit shown at the Horticultural Society Thursday.

Professor Williamson, who comes from the State College at Ithaca, gave facts and figures compiled from a survey of 25 Hudson Valley farms, showing the results obtained by them in the year 1931. Presumably these same farmers made no better showing last year, for they did as well.

Submarine Mountains Form Chain Not Unlike Rockies

The United States coast and geologic survey report of the coast of New England submarine mountains form a chain not unlike the Rockies. A counterpart to the Grand canyon was also found in Connecticut, a series of miles wide, with a slope of 10 degrees in places and a depth of 1,800 feet. Transatlantic liners pass over "volcanic" as bold as any the passengers on board may be able to see.

These great canyons and gorges, it is believed, are the result of river erosion at a time when New England was a plateau at least a mile and a half above sea level. The curious resemblance of these valleys with branching tributaries like those of the western canyons. Another surprise regarding this formation is that the gorge was the result of a great fault by a giant glacial landslide, which slipped from the continent to a depth of 1,800 feet below the present surface level of the water.

Creation of Perfumes

Every good perfumer has in mind something that he wishes to depict when he creates a new fragrance. Perhaps it is merely a memory, as in one fragrance, a success of the moment, which was born of the memory of a brilliant state occasion at a royal court. Another embodies the essence of the English spring, breathing the scent of countless flowers gracing the gardens of English countryside. Still another creation is reminiscent of a visit to the Orient, with its rich color, its pagentry and, behind everything, its mystery. Another odor, an almost instantaneous success, is a vital one, suggesting beauty with candor and strength of character. A delightful fragrance was inspired by the scent of ferns at twilight, when this delicate feathery green plant gives off its fragrance.

Lakes of Killarney

William Bowers Bourn of San Mateo, Calif., presented to the Irish Free State the huge tract of land containing the Lakes of Killarney. The Killarney estate belonged to Lord Kenmare's family, whose ancestral seat was Killarney castle. In 1913 the ancient castle was swept by fire and left in ruins. By 1930 the owners of the property were no longer able to pay taxes and Killarney went for sale on the auction block. It was purchased by Mr. Bourn, who returned it to the Irish government.

Wayside Stands As Apple Outlet

Jay Gelder, manager of the Chazy Orchards, Inc., covering 1,200 acres of land, said to be the largest planting of McIntosh apples in the world, spoke at the Thursday afternoon session of the State Horticultural Society. Mr. Gelder talked on "Disposition of Apples at a Wayside Market" and gave details of how they disposed of over 5,000 bushels of apples from a wayside stand the past season. In addition to giving his hearers some good pointers on how to run a wayside stand Mr. Gelder gave an exhibition of how a real forest to goodness champion of King Apple ought to talk—and incidentally proved himself to be the leading humorist of the many speakers who have appeared before the society so far.

The up to date wayside stand of the Chazy Company sold its thousands of bushels of apples at prices ranging from 15 and 25 cents up to $2.00 a bushel. The lower prices were for some 600 bushels that were blown from the trees just before reaching maturity. Mr. Gelder made it plain that they were sold for what they were—good apples for many purposes, but not yet matured. Later they sold over 700 bushels of drops and bruised apples at 25 cents a bushel. About 40 bushels were disposed of at the top price of $2 toward the end of the season. He said that people who patronized the stand seemed to like large apples and one popular apple was a variety for which he personally did not have a great deal of use, but because it was large it took the public eye.

The speaker showed a chart indicating the course of sales at the stand. Sunday was the peak day, and on occasions they disposed of as high as 150 bushels on a Sunday. The poorest day of the week was Wednesday. He did not believe that a fancy stand was needed, the main thing was to keep the stand clean and attractive. Most sales are made between the hours of three and five in the afternoon.

Mr. Gelder said that their stand had a great advantage in that it was on the direct road between New York and Montreal. He was afraid, however, that with the election of a Democratic president so many people would not go to Montreal and future business might be affected.

The speaker said that he had lately become interested in the question as to how apples compared with oranges and as an apple grower had been pleased to find his favorite fruit well able to meet the competition. For the benefit of the apple growers he named some of the outstanding virtues of the apple, among them being:

Compared to oranges and other popular fruits scientific reports show apples to be very similar in food value. They excel oranges in containing less water and having less waste. (Mr. Gelder said he advised his customers to eat even the core.) Apples contain vitamins A, B and C and are also valuable for correcting acidosis.

In essential minerals—iron, phosphorus, copper and manganese, apples and oranges are very similar. Apples are superior in calories of protein, carbohydrates and fat; also in roughage.

Dr. Kellogg says that "In health or disease the apple is the best all around fruit," and "apples are more valuable than a tooth brush in cleaning teeth and have a mouth cleansing quality possessed by no other fruit."

The speaker concluded, "Serve a glass of apple juice for breakfast; it is delicious and helpful. Children love it."

At the conclusion of Mr. Gelder's talk President Cowper stated that the speaker had invited the society to hold its summer meeting with him in the Champlain Valley. The invitation was received with applause and the president stated that it would be referred to the proper committee for consideration.
